

In the Claims:

1-25 (cancelled)

26. (new) A blade scraper comprising: (a) a body where said body being comprised of a hard plastic and a soft plastic; and (b) a carriage including a blade platform adapted for irremovably receiving and retaining a blade with said carriage allowing side loading of a blade where said blade is positioned so that the scraping end of said blade extending from parallel away from said body.

27. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 26 where said scraper has an ergonomic pair shaped design.

28. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 26 where said carriage has two positions, storage and scraping/loading position.

29. (new) A retractable blade scraper comprising: (a) a body where said body being comprised of a hard plastic and a soft plastic ; and (b) a carriage; and(c) a door connected to the bottom with a hinging means; body side with an opening means, said door opening to a storage area contained within said body, where a blade is positioned at the front end of said body so that the scraping end of said blade extending from parallel away from said body.

30. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 29 where said scraper has an ergonomic design.

31. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 29 where said carriage has two positions, storage and scraping/loading position.

32. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 29 where said storage area is attached to said body.

33. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 29 where said storage area is used to store used and unused blades.

34. (new) A retractable blade scraper comprising: (a) a body having top, bottom and base grip components where a blade is positioned at the front end of said body so that the scraping end of said blade extending from parallel away from said body; (b) said top and bottom being comprised of a hard plastic; and (c) said grip being comprised of a soft plastic .

35. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 34 where said scraper has an ergonomic pair shaped design.

36. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 34 where said top and bottom being comprised of thermo-plastic and said grip being comprised of an elastomer.

37. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 34 where in said scraper has a carriage with a storage position and scraping/loading position.

38. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 34 where in a door is connected to the bottom with a hinging means; body side with an opening means, said door opening to a storage area contained within said body.

39. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 34 where in a door is connected to the bottom with a hinging means; body side with an opening means, said door opening to a storage area contained within said body, said top having a ribbed area and a safety wall.

40. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 34 further comprising a blade carriage which is positioned in two slots within said body where said blade carriage holds the blades and moves within said slots and said slots hold the blade carriage in place.

41. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 40 where said carriage has two positions, storage and scraping position.

42. (new) A retractable blade scraper as in Claim 41 where said scraping position is a blade loading position.